Hi, I'm Anna, a second-year medical student with a passion for creativity, communication, and surgical innovation. While I haven't been part of the society before, surgery is a field I'm considering, and I'm excited about the possibility of contributing to it.

I'm inspired by how Cutting Edge makes surgical careers feel accessible and dynamic, and I'd love to be involved in shaping that experience for others.

I would be thrilled to contribute my energy and ideas to a society that already does so much to empower students and support those interested in surgery!
