Mia's new ideas

Along with match highlights and close friends stories I would love to introduce something new to the social media...

Just one idea is a score card after every game day. This includes rating the coach ride home, the post/pre match food from players, player of the match and much more! By doing this I think more freshers would wanna join handball as they see our high spirits and energy!!

I would also love to promote the sport more, as when i came to uni I didnt really know what handball was. This could be by creating short reels with aims of the game throughout training and posting them on socials
