2nd Year Law
South Indian living in Dubai,
UAE

I am a strong communicator and independent worker. I love meeting new people and working with them. I am creative and love to give everyone the chance to promote their own creativity. I am also known as the grammar police amongst my friends :)

Why me? started out editing my friends' assignments...

...then became part of the core editing team of my high school yearbook. I worked on collating information of over 100 students to make the perfect yearbook for us, pitching in ideas such as character stickers and drawing them out for each individual page.

...proceeded to then become Assistant-Editor-in-Chief of the Lawyers Without Borders Rule of Law Journal, working on individual submissions, promoting the journal on social media and ensuring that everyone got the chance to submit their work in the best way possible!

- Legal Director of 180 Degrees Consulting, Leeds: oversaw the company's legal incorporation and ensured branch operations complied with regulatory requirements
- Head of Delegate Affairs, MUN: coordinated logistics for over 400 delegates, strengthening my organisational skills
- Literacy Pirates Volunteer: helped children aged 9-12 improve reading, writing, and confidence through creative projects
