

Jared & Toby 4 Social Secs

About Us

Hi, we are Jared and Toby. We both have a high attendance record at socials this year, more often than not ending up in one piece. Not only do we attend socials, but we are both keen members of the beginner racing squad.

We would both thrive under the privilege of organising socials for the boat club, as well as matching the levels our current social secs have set.

Plans

Our plans for the socials next year entail a mix of continuing the success of the socials this year, in addition to some new ideas which we already have brewing. These ideas include:

- "I'm a rower, get me out of here".
- Laser tag
- Crate escape (which will work well with our shared house next year)
- Squad socials, as squad bonding is crucial for big performances in the races.

Due to our current social secs having done such a great job, it makes our lives a lot easier as there are plenty of socials which will continue. These of course include the Otley runs, Balls (Jared's favourite), ninja warrior, family socials, bumble and more.

Dreaming about future socials

Our love for each other

Mischief

As mischief is a key sport night, of course we will have many visits to the fine establishment that is Warehouse. We will keep some themes such as Minion Mischief, but we also want to increase the usage of social attire. Toby has also been dabbling with the idea of swapping gender attires for a night, as he loves to wear a dress.

Aims

Although drinking has been mentioned in relation to plenty of socials, there is of course no pressure to drink at any social. In addition to this, to help ensure everyone's safety, we will aim to have at least two sober members at every social. We will also release feedback forms at the end of each term to help cater the next socials towards members requests.

Another objective of our socials is to have bonding across all the squads, through plenty of games and socials which combine all the squads together. Finally, we will also try to minimise the costs of socials by utilising student discounts and getting discount codes for club tickets.

Working hard to produce good socials.

Thank you for reading our Manifesto, and we hope that you vote for us.

Lots of love,

Toby and Jared xx
