

Head of Marketing

* able to be an incognito social media manager

About Me

I'm a second year medical student from Brighton and I now live in the centre of Leeds above an art shop.

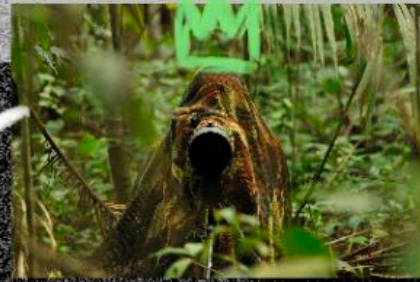

I joined Lippy last year and have produced artwork for both the Roots and Rage print issues.

I have an eye for graphic design and digital art with Procreate. This will allow me to create engaging content for social media, newsletters and posters.

Some of my interests include vintage fashion, record collecting and motorsport.

I have experience using various social media and have media experience having been interviewed on international television several times - being chronically online is a bonus!

As a medic, I have strong communication and organisational skills - that's why I'll be a valuable member of the team.

Vote Grace

My Ideas

Continue to increase the engagement of the Lippy Instagram by creating a professional and inclusive space where we can share the content from Lippy creatives.

Create a Lippy TikTok to further exhibit the talent of Lippy creators and to promote our gorgeous print issues.

Increase our use of posters around the university and in creative spaces to increase involvement in the magazine and promote both Lippy online and the print issues.

Increase the presence of artwork and photography from Lippy creatives on social media platforms.

Vote Grace

