About Me:

I first joined LPI in 2024, at the start of my BSc Economics degree, as a researcher on the Macro team, and later became the Head of Foreign Policy in 2025. I have extensive experience working both within a team and leading one, through my time at LPI and as Co-Editor-in-Chief at Leeds Finsights, as well as the keen eye for detail required to ensure the effective operation of the think-tank throughout the year.

MY PROPOSALS

1 Administrative Streamlining

Optimise administrative systems to better allow for the smooth operation across both our research and editorial departments, required for the success of the think tank

2 Events & Workshops

Organise and execute workshops and events across LPI's departments to foster both the social and learning communities, which are crucial to research and publication. success

3 Partner Network Growth

Build upon LPI's existing partner network to bring expertise from policy and industry professionals directly to our members through events and talks throughout the year
