

Re-elect Fran Heald

VOLUNTEER + BOATHOUSE COORDINATOR

Aims for the role

- Collaborate with Dan and coaching scholars to find and create opportunities for volunteer coaches within the new coaching structure to ensure fair opportunity for everyone.
- Have the Wednesday launch training sessions available every week to keep coaching accessible.
- Conduct the "how-to" coaching seminars again at the start of the year for anyone new to coaching
- Lead the bi-weekly coaches meetings for coach development and feedback.
- Have "how-to" sessions for boat repairs once a semester to get as many people involved in the club as possible.
- Ensure boat repairs are kept track of and completed in a timely manner (rough aim of max. a month, damage dependent) to keep the fleet operational.
- Advertise any external roles e.g. BUCS, junior indoor events or anything else in the wider community.

Who am I?

My name is Fran and I am a fourth year biological science student and this year's volunteer coordinator. "But Fran, aren't you leaving?" SURPRISE! I've applied to do my PhD at Leeds, meaning I'll hopefully be around for another 3 years! I've loved my role so much that I've decided to re-run. I'd be kicking myself next year if I didn't!

Pros

- Makes banging banana bread
- Drives (lifts to races and the BH)
- B-boat material so I have plenty of spare time for my committee role

Cons

- Me being here depends on me getting a 2:1 (pray for my disgrade)
- Have to deal with my nagging for another year

Surprise!
I'm back!

Why should you vote for me?

- Already a year into the role, so I know the ropes!
- Lots of experience with organising volunteers both in the club (thanks senior racing) and externally for BUCS regatta.
- Responsible for the appointing of coaches for Learn to Row sessions as L2R coordinator at Mersey Rowing Club on my year in industry.
- Organised, dependable, friendly and approachable.
- One of the first people in the club to get involved with boat maintenance this year.
- I am in love with the sport, and dedicated to highlighting the opportunities outside of being an athlete.
