

SOPHIE

FOR HEAD OF FILMMAKING

AGE: 20

DEGREE: Geography with environmental maths bsc

YEAR: Fresher

FAVE CHILDHOOD MOVIE: The Parent Trap (1998 of course!)

A BIT ABOUT ME

Hey everyone! I am just finishing up my first year as a geography student and am also a huge lover of TV and film. I started making videos on iMovie in year 6 and never stopped! I particularly love documentaries and will always make time for David Attenborough. I participated in a number of short film competitions and hosted a film festival during my sixth form years, and would love to continue filmmaking next year.

MY PLANS FOR THE YEAR

TEACHING

I would like to increase the number of educational sessions about filmmaking, from the very basics and to work from the ground up. I think this is especially important for members who don't study media degrees, and I would like for filmmaking to be as inclusive as possible. If there are particular roles that members are interested in I would aim to create more sessions to discuss and learn about them in more detail.

NETWORKING

Networking events at LSTV with people currently in the industry have been some of my first year highlights. I particularly want to increase networking events within the field of documentary production, and to make it easy for members to contact alumni who are happy to be involved. With filmmaking being a complex industry, the experience of those who have already made it in is invaluable! I therefore want to put on as many events as possible and to help current members to get experience wherever possible.

COLLABORATION

I think it would be great to collaborate with other societies in order to get a wider array of viewpoints and ideas. Whether that be social events, society swaps or simply trying to persuade members to give filmmaking a go, I would love to help new people with exploring the joys of making short films.

