

Michele Ngue-Awane for Editor-in-chief

Why me?

About me:

Hi guys! I'm a first-year law student and a member of Her Campus. I love fashion, music, and enjoy writing and editing articles. I'm that person that would rather get all the work done behind the scenes, so I think I'm perfect for this role!

Why me?

I want to continue the conversational nature of bi-weekly newsrooms and promote inclusivity; all members should feel empowered and open to different perspectives.

My meticulous work style will guarantee all pieces align with Her Campus guidelines whilst allowing your voices to shine through.

I'm currently an English tutor so best believe I have an eye for correcting and formatting texts!

My organisation will ensure all articles are uploaded to the website on time every week.

I'm a good multi-tasker; I believe I'll help Her Campus continue running smoothly by ensuring articles meet creator's standards and maintaining an open dialogue with members. I pride myself on being able to communicate with a variety of people; I'm attentive and I'm here to listen to your ideas, you can always contact me!